

Are you, or is someone you care about, self-harming?

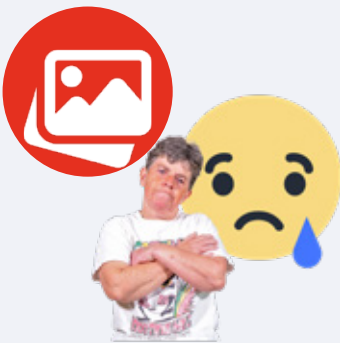

This is a booklet explaining what to do if you, or someone you care about, is self-harming

About this booklet

The aim of this booklet is to provide support to people who are self-harming, their parents, carers, friends and colleagues.

Therefore, some of the things may cause feelings of distress.

There are some pictures in this document which you may find not very nice to look at.

For example, pictures of wounds and injuries.

Blue word glossary

Blue words:

When a word or phrase is difficult, it is in blue writing. The word is then explained.

This booklet is quite long. We have split it up into different sections to make it easier to read.

You may want to read it in sections.

What's in the booklet

1. What is self-harm?

5

2. Common forms of self-harm

8

3. What might I be feeling if I am at risk of self-harm?

12

4. How might I behave if I am at risk of self-harm?

14

5. Self-harm triggers

15

6. Talking can help

19

7. Getting help

21

What's in the booklet

8. My safety plan

24

9. Helpful information and support services

30

10. Helpful information and support services in Suffolk

33

11. Helpful information and support services in Essex

35

1. What is self-harm?

Self-harm is often an attempt to manage difficult thoughts and feelings.

People who self-harm, hurt or injure themselves.

People sometimes self-harm as a response to emotional pain.

1. What is self-harm?

You may find this video helps to explain self-harm - www.suffolkmind.org.uk/additional-help/understanding-self-harm/

The cycle of self-harm

1. What is self-harm?

After harming yourself, you may feel better able to cope with life again, but this feeling doesn't last long.

Although self-harm can seem like a way of coping, it is important you are able to find healthier ways of coping.

Self-harm is often misunderstood.

People who self-harm keep their emotional pain hidden as they are scared of being unfairly judged by others.

It is important not to try and hide your emotional pain and to talk to people you trust about it.

2. Common forms of self-harm

Self-harm can be injuring yourself by -

Scratching

Cutting

Burning

Picking your skin

Picking old wounds

Not allowing old wounds to heal

2. Common forms of self-harm

Self-harm can be hitting yourself or objects, such as -

Punching walls

Banging your head

Punching yourself

Self-harm can be ligaturing.

Ligaturing is when parts of the body are tied tightly and blood flow is stopped or blocked.

Self-harm can be drinking too much alcohol or taking a lot of drugs.

2. Common forms of self-harm

Self-harm can be swallowing substances or objects.

Substances can include include bleach, or other harmful liquids.

Self-harm can be putting yourself in dangerous or unsafe situations, or acting recklessly.

Examples are -

Stepping out in front of cars

Getting into fights

Having unprotected sex

Self-harm can be taking dangerous risks with your health.

For example, not taking insulin correctly if you are a diabetic.

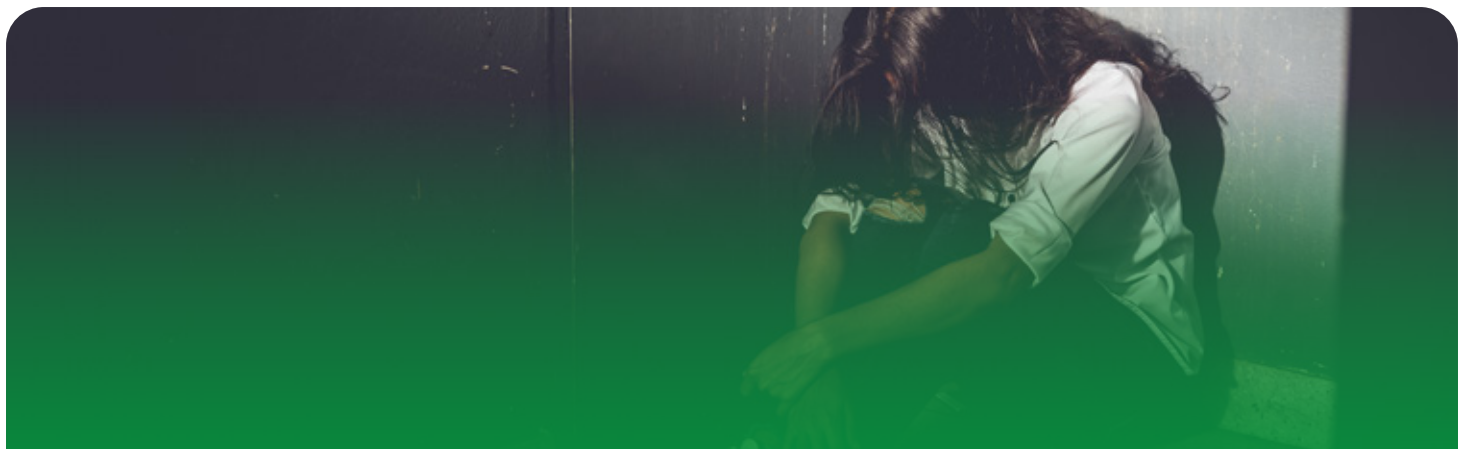

Getting help when you are injured

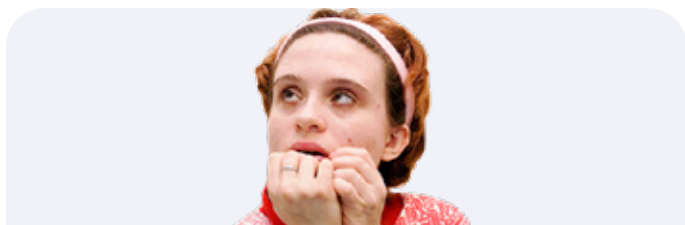

If you have a serious injury, get help immediately by calling 999 or going to A&E.

If you have an open wound or injury you may need some medical advice from your GP surgery or local NHS walk-in centre so that it does not get worse.

3. What might I be feeling if I am at risk of self-harm?

Hopelessness

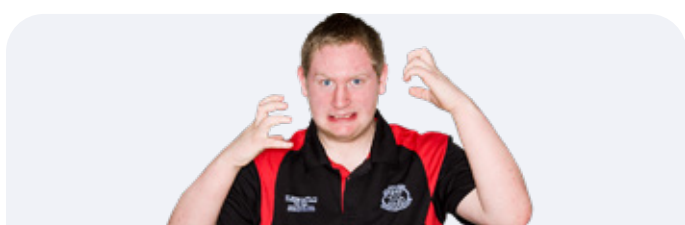

Guilt

Demotivated
Lack of interest in things

Failure

Anger

Low self-esteem
Unhappy with yourself

3. What might I be feeling if I am at risk of self-harm?

Mood swings

Loneliness

Isolation

Depression

Tearfulness
Crying a lot

These feelings can be very strong and noticing them early may help you to keep yourself safe.

4. How might I behave if I am at risk of self-harm?

Using drugs and/or alcohol

Taking risks

Loss of interest in things

Change in eating habits

Withdrawing from people and activities

Change in sleeping habits

Talking or thinking about self-harm or Suicide

5. What are self-harm triggers?

It can help to recognise triggers.

Triggers are situations in your daily life that can create feelings of being overwhelmed and distressed.

Understanding what your triggers are will help you to plan to manage them and get help when you need to.

Some examples of triggers are on the next 2 pages.

5. What are self-harm triggers?

Being reminded of traumatic or distressing memories

Time of year

Your past history

Social media

Work stress

Relationships with family or friends

Feeling that you are being judged

Bullying

5. What are self-harm triggers?

Comments from others which you find hurtful

For example about weight, appearance, or lifestyle

Not being listened to or heard

Changes to your body

Money and debt

Physical illness and pain

Mental illness

School pressure/ exams

5. What are self-harm triggers?

When you are more at risk of self-harming, consider using a safety plan.

There is one included in this booklet which may help in staying safe.

It is important to complete the safety plan when you are feeling calm.

6. Talking can help

There are no rules about who you should talk to about self-harming, or how to talk about it.

You could speak to a friend, family member, or another person you trust and who you feel comfortable with.

Remember to give yourself time and space to have this conversation.

6. Talking can help

It is up to you how much you tell somebody.

If you struggle to find the words, then perhaps writing it down or sending a text message would help.

After this experience you may feel emotionally drained which is completely understandable.

7. Where can I get help?

There are many organisations who are ready to help and support you.

You can get help if you are someone who has self-harmed before or has never self harmed.

There is also support for those who are caring for others who self-harm.

7. Where can I get help?

Samaritans

The Samaritans logo, consisting of the word "SAMARITANS" in white capital letters on a green rectangular background.

If you sometimes think about self-harm, or you've already hurt yourself, Samaritans are there to listen.

When you call Samaritans they will not pressure you to do anything and they will not judge you on what you tell them.

1 in 10 calls to Samaritans is about self-harm and many people call Samaritans because they want to avoid harming themselves in that moment.

Call Samaritans on 116 123

Or for more information about self-harm visit: www.samaritans.org/how-we-can-help/if-youre-having-difficult-time/if-you-want-self-harm/

7. Where can I get help?

SHOUT

Talking to someone at SHOUT about self-harm can help relieve difficult feelings and reduce the urge to hurt yourself.

Text 85258 to start an anonymous, free conversation with a trained volunteer who will listen to and support you.

They are available 24/7.

Anonymous means you will not be identified by name.

See the list of organisations at the end of the booklet for more support.

8. My safety plan

If you are self-harming and don't feel able to stop right now, it is important to keep yourself safe.

A safety plan is like an 'emotional wellbeing first-aid kit'.

It includes different things that will help reduce the risk of self harming.

8. My safety plan

Please fill out the following information, which you can look at whenever you feel at risk from self-harm.

You may want to record yourself talking about your safety plan.

You may want to give a copy of your safety plan to someone they trust.

When I need help, I will talk to this person because I trust them: (Write in the box a person such as a parent or close friend)

I will get professional help from:

(Write in the box a name of a professional such as a doctor)

8. My safety plan

My triggers for self-harming are:

(Write in the box. For example being bullied. More examples on page 16 and 17)

Personal message of hope to myself:

(Write in the box good things to make myself feel better)

8. My safety plan

Please fill this in when you are feeling calm. (Tick the boxes you like or tick other and write your own idea)

Things I need to help me stay calm:

Puzzles

Bubbles/balloons

Face wash

Toothbrush/hair brush

Sour sweets/chewing gum

Diary

Hot drink/cold water

Pet

Book

Football/sports equipment

8. My safety plan

Pillow

Stress toy, fidget toy

Other:

Things I can do to help me stay calm:

Walk

Ask for help

Exercise

Phone or message someone

Breathing exercises

Play a game

Stretch

Listen to music

8. My safety plan

Watch tv

Plan on how I can help others

Play a musical instrument

Go to a public place /go to a safe place

Other:

Information

9. Helpful information and support services

We have found some helpful information and support services.

Mind

Mind Explains self-harm, including possible causes and how you can access treatment and support.

They have tips for helping yourself, and guidance for friends and family.

For more information please visit:
www.mind.org.uk/information-support/types-of-mental-health-problems/self-harm/about-self-harm
or call 0300 123 3393

National Self Harm Network Forums

The aims of this forum are to:

- Support people who self-harm to reduce emotional distress and improve their quality of life

- Support and provide information for family and carers of people who self-harm

- Raise awareness of the needs of people who self-harm, dispel myths and combat discrimination

- Empower and enable people that self-harm to find other ways to cope with feelings

For more information please visit:
www.nshn.co.uk

Harmless

Harmless works with anyone, of any age, who self-harm or are at risk of self-harm.

What matters to us is the struggle that someone is experiencing and how we can help them to feel better and be safer.

For more information please visit:
www.harmless.org.uk

LifeSIGNS

LifeSIGNS is a self-harm guidance and support network who provide information about self-injury.

Whilst we never tell anyone to 'stop', we do support people as and when they choose to make changes in their lives.

For more information please visit:
www.lifesigns.org.uk

SUFFOLK

10. Helpful Suffolk Resources

We have found some resources which you may find helpful if you live in Suffolk.

The Source

If you think your friend might be self-harming, there are ways you can support them.

If you're using self-harm as a way to deal with your feelings, it's important that you talk to someone and seek help. The Source provides a list of services that can help.

For more information please visit:
www.thesource.me.uk/health/self-harm

10. Helpful information and support services for Suffolk

Suffolk Info Links

Information and advice about Self-harm in children and young people for parents and carers.

<https://infolink.suffolk.gov.uk>

Wellbeing Suffolk

Wellbeing Suffolk provide support for people with common mental health and emotional issues, such as low mood, depression or stress.

We work with you to help you make the changes to improve your wellbeing and quality of life.

Our services are free and are available to people and for people of all ages.

For more information please visit:

www.wellbeingnands.co.uk

or call 0300 123 1503

First Response helpline: 0808 196 3494

11. Helpful Essex Resources

A photograph of two men, one older and one younger, standing and talking. The older man is holding a document. To the right of the men is a circular teal icon containing a white map of Essex.

We have found some resources which you may find helpful if you live in Essex.

Mid Essex Sanctuary

A collage of three images: a person holding their head with social media icons (thumbs up/down, smile, sad face) floating above them; a family of three (a man, a woman, and a child) standing together; and a laptop displaying the 'Mind' logo and the text 'Mid and North East Essex'.

The Mid Essex Sanctuary is there to support anyone experiencing a mental health crisis that does not require medical treatment.

This includes self-harm.

For more information please visit:
www.mnessexmind.org/mid-essex-sanctuary
or call 01206 764600

11. Helpful information and support services for Essex

Therapy For You

When you're experiencing mental health difficulties, you want to find help right away.

We're committed to giving you professional support quickly, when and where it's needed.

That's why we're helping people to access mental health support.

For more information please visit:
www.therapyforyou.co.uk

or call 01206 334001

This document was made in co-production with:

Experts by experience: people with a learning disability and autistic people

Ace Anglia: info@aceanglia.com

Suffolk County Council

Essex County Council
